Elements and Principles of Design - Color Poster

Color Emotions Poster

Practice what you learned so far about the emotional content of color.

Instructions

- Begin with a plain white sheet of paper and a pencil or pen.
- In block letters, write at least ten words describing emotion from the Emotional Content of Colors page.
- Turn the words all around. Make them fit together and fill up the page. If you can, make the letter shapes match the emotion.
- I have about 19 words in my penciled example below:

- After you have the sheet filled with words, color in each word with the appropriate color, according to what you learned.
- You may outline words in a dark color like black or gray.
- You may leave the background white, or fill it with a single, very light color.
